MR. ANDREW PRICE, son of our esteemed townsman, Col. James B. FIRST PREMIUM Price, congressman from Louisana. on his way to Washington, stopped off here for a few hours on Friday of last week. Mr. Price is a young man of considerable promise and great popularity in his district. He represents the same district that Mr. Gny, his millionaire father-in-law, represented for many years, and in which Col. James B. Price was sayeral times a candidate in the years immediately after the close of the war, when northern statesmen were running things in the south,

THE city election takes place in April. A mayor, city attorney, treasurer, marshal and four councilmen are to be elected. We believe in the nomination of candidates because that will insure the naming of good men. While we are opposed to politics in municipal elections, yet, experience has proven that good men will consent to run for the city council if nominated, that cannot be in- LEGION OF HONOR. induced to run in any other way. It forces both parties to nominate good men and will insure the election of those best qualified to fill the offices,

THE MESSAGE.

The president's message was sent to congress on Monday. It is quite lengthy but not as long as the prestdent's former message. ' He opposes any changes in the McKinley bill. and favors the passage of the federal election bill. In both of these recommendations he has ignored the warning of the last election. Dr. O. K. CHAMBERLIN formerly of the City of New York, has, by special request, located for a limited period, in Jefferson City and invites those in quest of health to an investigation of lus important discoveries in the polarized action of electricity for the speedy removal of acute, nervous and schronic dis-

Thirty-five years experience in the application of the subtile forces has enabled Dr. Chamberlin to produce results in the healing art that challenge comparison. In proof of his claims he has letters and certificates from medical men and others from all parts of the country, certifying to the re-lief they have experienced at his bands after other means had failed. Dr. Chambgriin has cur. d. is now enring and further pledges himself to cure numerous diseases that have hickorto haffled the higest medical skill and remedial agencies. The heat eyelence of the efficacy of his treatment can be daily witnessed at his rooms in the restoration to health of the pain-stricken, der ilitated and infirm.

Electricity is the vital principle upon which life and health depend, and in the hands of science cat be made adaptable to nearly every diseased manifestation. From its extreme subtility—action and re-action, it will penetrale to the interior of the body, remove tumors and obstructions, regulate secretion, circulation and digestion, and bring into healthful and harmonious action all the disordered functions of body and mind. Such are some of the wonderful doings of electricity where administered in accordance with its polarized relations. If seking for health it may prove to your advantage to call and investigate. A conversation with the doctor
